Bastion joins regional quest

BAY AREA HOUSTON, Texas – The Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership, a distinguished regional organization, recently welcomed Bastion Technologies, Inc. as their newest investors.

"We continue to see the number of companies investing in the organization increase as partners discover the benefits of joining," said Bob Mitchell, president of Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership. "This investment represents a synergy among companies, municipal partners and our organization to create, retain and expand jobs in the region."

Jorge Hernandez, founder and president of Bastion, recognized the opportunity to provide both government and industry customers quality and cost-effective engineering, design and analysis products.

Bastion Technologies works with several industries within the region including the aerospace, petrochemical, manufacturing and technology.

Bastion Technologies provides solutions to structural, mechanical, and electrical engineering challenges. The company's projects range from supporting engineering, operations, manufacturing, and fabrication of major International Space Station segments, to creating designs for small robotic components.

Bastion Technologies was honored as one of the Fastest Growing Small Business in the Houston Area.

In addition, the company was recognized as NASA Minority Subcontractor of the Year in 2005 and The Boeing Company Exceptional Performance Award.

"We are proud to partner with Bastion Technologies and look forward to working with them for years to come as we strive to make Bay Area Houston a better place to work, live and prosper." Mitchell said.
