ManTech joins BAHEP membership

BAY AREA HOUSTON, TX – ManTech International Corporation is the newest member of the Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership. From its beginning in 1968, ManTech International Corporation has consistently delivered innovative technology and technical services solutions to federal government customers.

Bob Mitchell, BAHEP president, stated, “Over the past 40 years, ManTech has developed a reliable reputation as a service provider to its clients. The company’s depth and breadth of experience makes it a great resource for many of our members, and we are glad that ManTech chose to join BAHEP.”

Grant Tregre, business development manager for ManTech, noted, “BAHEP provides exceptional networking opportunities to build relationships among the many organizations within the partnership. We look forward to becoming an active member of the organization and hope to stimulate growth within the local and regional business markets.”

ManTech is a dynamic engineering organization providing diversified systems development and acquisition engineering services to government and commercial customers on a worldwide basis. Today, ManTech has grown to become one of the U.S. government’s leading providers of innovative technologies and solutions for mission-critical national programs supporting the space community, intelligence community; the departments of Defense, State, Homeland Security and other federal government agencies. ManTech’s mission is to provide the very best services in system engineering, system integration, information technologies, safety, reliability and mission assurance and to foster continuous innovation and performance improvement.
