BAHEP welcomes Craig Technologies, an engineering, technical solution and manufacturing firm

BAY AREA HOUSTON, TEXAS – Founded in 1999 by CEO Carol Craig, Craig Technologies (Craig) is a U.S.-Owned, Hispanic Minority-Owned, Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned (SDVO), and Economically-Disadvantaged Woman-Owned Small Business (EDWOSB) that is ISO 9001/AS9100 Certified and ITAR compliant.

Growing Craig Technologies from one person in 1999, Craig leads nationwide operations with over 350 associates in 20 states, headquarters in Cape Canaveral, Fla., and regional offices in other locations. Craig Technologies (Craig) delivers award-winning engineering and technical solutions to both government and commercial customers.

Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership President Bob Mitchell stated, “Craig’s diverse services include end to end product design, information technology/cyber security, training, engineering and manufacturing capabilities with a strong emphasis on manned and unmanned space flight support. Its success is well grounded in its expertise, and we gladly welcome Craig as a member of BAHEP.”

Bill Corley, director, Houston Operations, represents the company within BAHEP. Corley said, “Carol Craig considers all customers as family. She believes that treating each other as one would a close relative is what guides our company and distinguishes us from our competition. Family is what ensures we always value the opinions, ideas and unique talents of our coworkers and clients. No matter our location in the country, we take our core company values very seriously. We look forward to learning about and working with our fellow members at BAHEP.”

Craig's primary clients include NASA, Air Force, Army and Navy and other major Federal agencies. The company's Houston regional office is located at 16850 Saturn Lane, Suite 100, Houston, Texas 77058. To learn more, email william.corley@craigtechinc.com or call 713.734.0524.
