Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership (BAHEP) is a member-driven organization that provides leadership to stimulate regional economic development and employment in a range of industries such as aerospace engineering, biotechnology/bioscience, specialty chemicals and plastics, and information technology and communications. BAHEP partners with 270 member companies, 13 cities, Galveston County, Harris County and the Port of Houston Authority in southeast Texas to foster economic vitality through regional collaboration.

Commercial / Office / Industrial Development

Lummus Technology, a CB&I company, is expanding its Research and Development operations at its Pasadena facility. The company plans to build 20,000 SF for office and 80,000 SF for manufacturing. Existing buildings and structures will also be renovated to support expanded R&D activities and new equipment will be used for production. The investment value is approximately $31 million for this new facility. Up to 35 new, direct jobs will be created with yearly salaries totaling approximately $2.7 million plus benefits. Additionally, over 200 indirect jobs will be created.

CB&I engineers and constructs some of the world's largest energy infrastructure projects. Will Groten, Vice President, Research & Development at the Pasadena plant, said "Houston has always welcomed us with open arms providing an ample work force and space to build and expand. It was a natural progression of this relationship and commitment that Pasadena and the Houston region would be at the top of our list when we were looking to grow our research and development efforts. The Houston region is a great place to grow our business. We're close to our suppliers, including the world's largest petrochemical companies."

Construction began in August and completion is expected by December 2012. The estimated net benefits of this expanded facility to Harris County, La Porte ISD, and other special taxing districts over the first ten years is more than $10 million.

Big expansion in the works! Kuraray America will increase production of its ethylene vinyl alcohol copolymer (EVAL) resin at its facility in Pasadena by more than 17 million pounds per year. Continued global demand for the product is the reason for this expansion which will see completion in January 2014 at a cost of $49 million. It's expected that this project will create 15 permanent jobs. Kuraray has three manufacturing plants for the EVAL resin: Pasadena, TX, Japan and Belgium. The company was the world's first to develop and commercialize this high-barrier performance resin; it's used in the food packaging, agricultural, auto industry and many other consumer and industrial applications that require a barrier to a gas or chemical resistance.

Oil and water do mix! The Neutral Buoyancy Lab at the Sonny Carter Training Facility at Ellington Field will be shared for use in survival training for oil and gas workers. The pool, 40 ft deep, 202 ft long and 102 ft wide, has been used for years to support training for NASA's space shuttle and space station work. This new and innovative agreement will use the expertise of both the NBL managing contractor, Raytheon Technical Training Services Co., and Petrofac Training Services to create a center of excellence for survival training. This is an example of how NASA Johnson Space Center's facilities and resources are being used by non-aerospace industries to grow new technologies. Read more about this here: Guidry News and <http://www.nasa.gov> for information about NASA and agency programs.

NASA has announced plans for the first Exploration Flight Test (EFT-1) of the Orion Multi-Purpose Crew Vehicle (MPCV) in early 2014. Orion MPCV is America's first interplanetary spacecraft designed for deep space human exploration missions to such destinations as Lagrangian Points, asteroids and ultimately Mars. EFT-1 will acquire critical re-entry flight performance data and demonstrate early integration capabilities that benefit Orion, the new heavy lift Space Launch System, and 21st Century Ground Systems programs. Lockheed Martin is the prime contractor for development of the Orion which is managed from NASA's Johnson Space Center.

Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University plans to offer at least three new Master's degrees in the fall of 2012 and relocate to a new facility in Houston, TX. A Master of Systems Engineering, Master of Science in Logistics and Supply Chain Management and Master of Science in Project Management are in the planning phases. To help facilitate the growing student body in Houston, a larger classroom location is also currently being planned.

Embry-Riddle's decision to offer the degrees comes after an extensive review of industry needs. Based on the results of its study, the university believes it is important to offer targeted degree programs that meet the requirements of industry and the Houston market is perfectly suited for this mission.

Sens Road Distribution Center, a 276,320 SF facility, is under construction in La Porte off SH 225. The bulk distribution warehouse will have 30 ft clear height, dock high and grade level loading, ESFR sprinkler system and a truck court up to 320 ft long. Completion is anticipated for the first quarter of 2012. It's 75% preleased.

Total Safety-Webb Murray has a new 40,000 SF office/warehouse complex underway at 4210 Malone Drive in Bayport North Industrial Park. It's scheduled for completion in February 2012.

Another new industrial building is coming up at Bay Oaks Business Park in Pasadena. Specs for this one: 30,000 SF concrete tilt-wall, 20-ton crane ready. Construction starts in January with delivery in April 2012.

Another industrial project will be off the ground first quarter 2012. The first phase of approximately 250,000 SF will be built at Energy Commerce Center, an office and warehouse business park on 45 acres along Beltway 8 near SH 225 in Pasadena.

A new $1.3 million medical clinic is under construction for Friendswood Family Chiropractic Clinic and Spuhler Medical Associates at 1111 S. Friendswood Drive. City Council approved a $15,000 municipal grant for this 10,250 SF project. And, approximately $14,700 in development fees will be waived because the project is located in the city's Downtown Neighborhood Empowerment Zone.

Retail / Hospitality Development

A full-size scale replica of a Space Orbiter is leaving Kennedy Space Center en route to its new home at Space Center Houston. Commonly called a "Space Shuttle," the orbiter is set to arrive in Houston in spring 2012 and will be unveiled and available to the public in the fall. The orbiter was built to exacting, authentic specifications in 1993 at a cost of $2 million and, after extensive preparation, it will allow visitors to Space Center Houston unprecedented, full access to the flight deck and cargo hold. The orbiter will help tell the story of NASA's Johnson Space Center's mission of human space exploration. Visitors to Space Center Houston will have free entrance to the orbiter as part of the all-inclusive general admission. An extensive fundraising campaign is to be launched as part of an initiative to give Texas citizens the opportunity to provide the new, official name of Texas' own orbiter.

ALCO Stores, Inc. leased 30,000 SF in a retail center anchored by Hobby Lobby and the Antique and Craft Mall in Pasadena, corner of Pasadena Boulevard and Red Bluff Road. ALCO offers electronics and audio, sporting goods, apparel, hardware, housewares, automotive, food, health and beauty products and more.

Infrastructure News and Everything Else!

It's that time of the year! If you know a jolly old man with a white beard in a red suit looking for ideas ... check out the cities' news and their wish lists!!

- La Porte wants retail more restaurants, places to buy clothing, and food stores. How about a Chick-fil-A? And some retail in front of Port Crossing??

There may soon be a tenant in the 912 West Main building and also at the National Guard Building on Spencer near the La Porte Municipal Airport.

- El Lago's wish list for the city's waterfront property is a condo/hotel tower, a few restaurant pad sites and a small marina. Maybe a Starbucks or Einstein Bagel on one of the small sites on the north side of NASA Parkway?? Hey Santa ...the city owns some land they would sell VERY inexpensively for the right project!

The city's new $1.8 million community/fitness/city hall has broken ground; the city is looking for persons/companies interested in naming rights for this new 2,400 SF facility. It will be available to everyone!

- Friendswood: A $2 million project, funded by an EDA grant, was just completed that includes more than two miles of infrastructure (water line, gravity sanitary sewer, force main and lift station). This will service nearly 300 acres of commercial and industrial zoned land in the city's panhandle area making it more marketable and developable.
- League City: The city has an entertaining idea plans are underway to construct Jimmy Changa's, a 10,000 SF restaurant on Town Center Drive in the area that the city hopes to transform into the "Entertainment District." The restaurant is anticipated to open by late summer of 2012.
- Clear Lake Shores: Clear Lake Shores Town Center, approximately 9 acres, is all dressed up and ready for development with new roads and drainage completed. The next phase incorporating landscaping, hardscape and nautical themed lighting is moving forward. The pedestrian-friendly waterfront Town Center area allows mixed use development, on-street parking and plans include a city-provided shared parking lot. There are land tracts currently available in Town Center for sale and buildings for lease that are on the water or have a water view. In addition, an 11-acre tract directly in front of Watergate Marina and near South Shore Harbor remains undeveloped. These properties are along high traffic FM 2094 between Kemah with over 3 million visitors annually and League City, the fastest growing and largest community in Galveston County. Several sites are available -- tracts range from 50,000+ SF adjacent to Skipper's Café to 33,000+ SF, former site of the South Shore Beer Garden.

The city owns property it would consider selling to a master developer or business offering a plan that complements the city's island lifestyle while adding sales tax revenue and jobs. Incentives include no city property tax, reduced parking requirements, pedestrian access and a business friendly city administration and council.

- Seabrook: City has officially 'opened' the new gateway sign near the entrance of the waterfront district, known as the Point. The city is improving and revitalizing this prized section of the city for future expansion of seafood restaurants and fish markets ... and more!
- Dickinson: The Dickinson Economic Development Corporation owns approximately 39 acres of property on Hughes Road just east of I-45 for which a Master Plan will be developed. It would also consider selling to a master developer or business offering a plan that complements the city's overall vision while adding sales tax revenue and jobs. The city and DEDC are willing to consider numerous incentives for the right project.

The city's development of the Highway 3 Overlay District is underway and should be complete in mid-2012.

The city has requested an ISO re-rate that is anticipated to result in lower insurance premiums for both residential and commercial properties. Additionally, the city is joining the Community Rating System through the National Flood Insurance Program that will further reduce residential and commercial insurance premiums.

The city of Dickinson has submitted an application in Round 2.2 of the Disaster Recovery CDBG Program for another $12 million in infrastructure improvements.

Harris County Precinct 2 will soon announce the contractor-at-risk for the $3.6 million renovation of the Sylvan Beach Pavilion in La Porte. The building has a capacity of 1,000 and is expected to be open in late 2012 or early 2013. The county will issue an RFP for a group or individuals interested in operating the facility. The Pavilion has been designated as a National Historic Building, a State Archeological Landmark and a Recorded Texas Historical Landmark. (a little known fact The editor had her high school prom here!)

Port of Houston Authority plans to revamp Barbours Cut Container Terminal at a projected cost of $600 to $700 million. This will be in preparation for increased traffic from the Panama Canal bringing larger ships that need larger cranes, additional security equipment and reinforced concrete storage areas – all this to keep Houston competitive with other major ports. Additionally, $1 billion will be spent to finish the Bayport Terminal. These projects will take eight to 10 years to complete.

Congratulations to POHA honored as "Port Authority of the Year" at the Containerisation International Awards 2011. The awards recognize companies and individuals that have made outstanding contributions over the past year to the container liner shipping and logistics industry, through innovative, proactive or pioneering achievements.

Education news

Road News

--- Big Stuff

Plans are to tear down the Dixie Farm Road overpass in June 2012 and rebuild it so it travels under the Gulf Freeway. This means there will be no east-west traffic at that intersection until the new road and overpass are complete. Drivers will detour to Scarsdale Boulevard or Clear Lake City Boulevard. This is part of a four-year project for the widening of the Gulf Freeway (Interstate 45) which will upgrade the freeway from three lanes to five lanes in either direction and will widen the frontage road from two to three lanes. Another project is winding down: Dixie Farm Road is being resurfaced from Highway 3 to the Gulf Freeway. Read more about this in the Bay Area Citizen.

---El Lago

City is starting a $3 million road improvement project with total reconstruction of the oldest roads in phase one.

--- Pasadena

- City of Pasadena and Harris County Precinct 2 will work together on Phase one of a new $12 million project -- improvements to Fairmont Parkway between Beltway 8 and Red Bluff Road starting in January. The project includes an additional lane for both east and westbound traffic along the 1.8 mile stretch plus drainage improvements. U-turns will be added at east and west-bound intersections of Fairway Plaza, Nations/Country Road and Space Center Boulevard. Fairmont Parkway is the city's busiest road and these improvements are in the midst of an area from which the city derives about 90% of its sales tax revenues. Harris County is paying for the road and drainage improvements - about $9 million and the city is paying for enhanced signalization - about $3 million. Completion is expected before the 2012 holiday season. Phases two, three and four are in the design stage and are slated for completion by fall 2013. For more information, visit www.pct2.hctx.net or www.ci.pasadena.tx.us.
- The new extension of Genoa-Red Bluff Road connecting Red Bluff Road to Canada Road is now open. Phase one which widened the road from Beltway 8 to Space Center Boulevard is also complete. Starting real soon is the last phase which will widen the road from Red Bluff to near Space Center Boulevard. The entire project will be finished in August 2013. If you didn't knowstarting at SH 225, East Boulevard becomes Canada Road and then Genoa-Red Bluff Road.
